Twenty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time

I love the response Bishop Barron gave to the media in regard to the killing of children at Anunciation Church and School in Minneapolis. He said, "he considers these children to be martyrs." Why? Because this was a hate crime against Catholics. Therefore, they died for their faith as they were at Mass celebrating their faith and worshiping our Lord.

On Friday we celebrated the memorial of the passion of John the Baptist. Mark places the story of John's passion and death as a flashback. This is intentional. Mark wants to stress how the mighty works the disciples did are the fruit of their fearless faithfulness in proclaiming the Gospel, in suffering for the sake of Jesus' name, and in being willing to undergo death. All of this is exemplified by John the Baptist, the forerunner of Jesus (see Huizenga, Loosing the Lion, 159). Mark tells the story of John's suffering and death because he wants to suggest death brings life. After Jesus' death and resurrection, Jesus' disciples will work healings, signs, and wonders. This will advance the kingdom of God throughout the world. When Herod wonders if John the Baptist has been raised and is working in Jesus, he is ironically right: "John the Baptist has been raised after a fashion in Jesus, for whom John served as prophetic forerunner. Jesus continues John's ministry of proclamation even while transcending it with healings and exorcisms and expanding it by doing so through his disciples, his Church" (Huizenga, Loosing the Lion, 160).

Lord Jesus, I am a child of your Father. I am a member of your Mystical Body. I am a temple of your Spirit. You are everything to me. I long to enjoy eternal life with you and be purified of all my imperfections. May I be holy and merciful as your heavenly Father is holy and merciful.

God bless,
Fr. Cory Rohlfing

Lectio: Eucharist with Dr. Brant Pitre

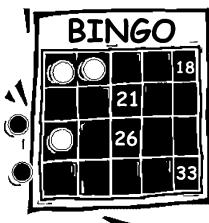

Acclaimed author and teacher Dr. Brant Pitre digs down to the biblical roots of the Eucharist, through its foreshadowing in the miraculous events of the Old Testament, the Gospels, and Apostolic teaching.

"The Lamb of God," "The Bread of Life," "The Body and the Blood of Christ"... these are phrases we know from the Mass. But do we understand what they mean in the greater and deeper context of Scripture and Church teaching? We'll discover firsthand how Christ's Body and Blood are an integral and wondrous part of God's plan for our salvation.

Session 2 of this study meets on Thursdays at 7:00 pm. Everyone is welcome to join us. Please contact the parish office at 507-789-6120 if you are interested in attending so we can have enough materials for all participating.

Faith Formation is still in need of substitute teachers. Sometimes starting out as a substitute or helper makes one more comfortable with teaching full time. Please do not ever UNDERESTIMATE your ability to teach. The only skills you need is to enjoy sharing the faith with the children and loving Jesus. Volunteers are required to complete the Virtus training, which is all online now.
